Solar Return Planets

Sun in the twelfth house ( ☉ - XII )

This year is a period focused on self-discovery and personal achievement. This is your time to shine independently and explore your strengths and weaknesses. You likely have a personal project in mind that requires your unique skills and determination to complete. The essence of this transition is about understanding your capabilities and using this self-awareness for personal growth.

This phase encourages self-improvement and motivation. You are urged to take initiative in your life without relying on others to push you forward. It's a powerful time to develop new traits that support personal success. Although this doesn't mean you'll be isolated, it's about testing your self-sufficiency and resilience. The real emphasis is on your ability to achieve things on your terms.

Your achievements this year will be personal rather than professional, focusing on internal growth rather than external accolades. Progress might not be immediately visible to others but will be deeply satisfying for you. As you work towards your goals, you'll notice changes in your character, revealing traits that can either support or hinder your ambitions. It's your responsibility to nurture the positive traits and manage the negative ones to foster overall development.

This year is also a time for personal healing and overcoming past challenges. Whether it's a difficult relationship or another significant issue, you'll have the opportunity to make substantial personal progress. If you initiate a career-related project, it will likely gain momentum and be recognized more broadly next year. Use this period to prepare, and gain the necessary skills and knowledge for future endeavors.

Throughout the year, you might become more focused on your needs and goals, sometimes overlooking others' needs. This introspective focus is necessary for achieving your objectives, though you should strive to balance it with effective communication. By clearly expressing your enthusiasm and goals to others, you'll help them understand and support your efforts. This focused determination is crucial for making the most of this transformative period.

Moon in the third house ( ☾ - III )

This year suggests a focus on reassessing your financial worth and earning potential as an employee or business owner. While monetary gain is unlikely, you may discover that your work is undervalued and merits higher compensation than your current pay. Mapping out a plan to increase your income is advisable; however, a significant salary raise is improbable until your Sun shifts into your 10th house of career in the following year.

Running a business or household necessitates meticulous budgeting and accounting to ensure responsible money management. Scrutinize your spending habits, as you may be unintentionally wasting funds. Implementing practical financial strategies this year can lead to substantial savings for future investments and projects. Neglecting fiscal responsibility could result in monetary limitations and challenges.

In addition to financial matters, this placement also involves evaluating your self-worth. Others' treatment of you may not reflect the respect you deserve. Engaging in physically or emotionally abusive relationships is more probable if you struggle with low self-esteem. To break this detrimental pattern, prioritize your own needs and abilities rather than constantly yielding to others' demands. Although establishing this balance may have been difficult in the past, it is now crucial to advocate for yourself. Anticipate equal consideration, and boldly request it when necessary.

Valuing yourself extends beyond this singular aspect. Redefine what you once found desirable, as it may no longer align with your current aspirations. While you might grow more materialistic, it's also possible to emphasize inner qualities over financial status. Regardless of your inclination, making decisions and setting priorities is essential throughout the year. Navigating ethical dilemmas is common, often prompting a shift in traditional behavioral norms.

Some individuals firmly commit to their moral or ethical convictions, feeling compelled to uphold their beliefs despite potential consequences to their physical, emotional, or financial well-being. They become the whistle-blower, disregarding personal repercussions to champion their principles. Be mindful of overindulgences this year, as you may be prone to excessive behaviors like overeating, smoking, drinking, impulsive spending, and promiscuity. Strive to control these tendencies and curtail them when necessary.

Mars in the eleventh house (♂ - XI)

This year highlights your intellectual abilities and mental agility. You possess a keen mind that craves knowledge, driving you to explore new ideas and perspectives. This is an optimal time to engage in studies, writing, or purchasing a computer to support your intellectual pursuits. However, organizing your thoughts may prove challenging, making it difficult to focus on a single topic or task.

Your mental processes play a pivotal role in navigating the events of this solar return year. Your mind can be your greatest ally or your most formidable adversary, significantly influencing the challenges you encounter. Acquiring knowledge might become your primary focus, and it's undoubtedly beneficial to learn as much as possible during this period by enrolling in courses or educational programs. Nevertheless, if nervousness, indecision, and impulsiveness cloud your judgment, you may struggle to think logically and clearly.

The Sun in the 3rd house can also indicate mental instability or depression, especially if Saturn is prominently placed in your solar return chart. Monitor Mercury's aspects to better comprehend the Sun's manifestation. Possible symptoms include anxiety, irrational thinking, confusion, and neurosis. Your mind may be overactive, and if you fail to direct your thoughts toward meaningful pursuits, mental difficulties can arise.

This year, you are likely more intrigued by thoughts than feelings, depending on the Moon and Pluto's positions and strengths in your solar return chart. The Sun in the 3rd emphasizes thinking processes, so you will devote more time to contemplating feelings than actually experiencing them. Emotions will be analyzed and dissected from an intellectual standpoint rather than felt viscerally.

While this doesn't imply a cold demeanor, you will screen your feelings and make logical decisions based on rational thoughts more often than emotional impulses. Community involvement and activism may become increasingly significant, whether on an individual level by assisting a neighbor in need or on a larger scale within your neighborhood.

Mercury in the twelfth house ( ♀ - XII )

This year, you'll be driven to find a profound sense of physical, emotional, and spiritual nourishment that serves as an anchoring force in your life. There's an innate yearning to establish a space, be it a home or personal sanctuary, that wholly reflects your authentic self and values, providing a nurturing environment where you can thrive.

On a material level, you may feel the urge to redecorate, renovate, or even relocate to align your living situation with your evolving needs and desires. This transition could involve something as simple as reorganizing your space for optimal comfort and revitalization or embarking on a more significant move to a new residence that better resonates with your current phase of life.

Emotionally, there's a craving for supportive relationships that offer a sense of belonging and understanding. Strengthening familial bonds, mending strained connections, or forging new ties with individuals who share your values can provide the emotional sustenance you seek. It's an opportune time to confront past resentments or unresolved conflicts that have hindered your ability to experience genuine emotional fulfillment.

On a spiritual level, you'll feel compelled to redefine your life's purpose and establish roots that will nourish your growth in the years to come. Exploring belief systems, engaging in self-reflection, or reconnecting with cultural traditions can help you clarify your spiritual path and align your actions with your deeper calling.

The emphasis this year is on creating a harmonious foundation that nurtures you on multiple levels, allowing you to feel grounded, protected, and encouraged to flourish. By cultivating a supportive physical environment, fostering emotional connections, and aligning with your spiritual aspirations, you'll establish a profound sense of belonging that empowers personal growth and resilience in the face of future challenges.

Jupiter in the first house ( 4 - 1 )

This year ignites an undeniable urge for self-expression and authenticity. With a firm grasp on your identity, you're primed to let your vibrant personality bloom unapologetically. This cosmic influence encourages you to boldly showcase your true essence to the world, no longer compromising or suppressing your unique qualities.

Self-expression can manifest through myriad creative outlets – artistic pursuits like painting, writing, poetry, or music may beckon your attention. However, the medium itself is secondary; the driving force is the act of creation and self-revelation. You might find equal fulfillment in more pragmatic endeavors, such as developing your distinct business style, crafting educational materials tailored to your vision, or even founding your nursery school.

If you're a parent, this transit could intensify your focus on nurturing and celebrating your children's growth and triumphs. However, exercise caution not to impose your desires onto their lives or dominate their journeys. Instead, channel this energy into fostering their talents while reveling in their accomplishments with pride.

Romance and exciting new relationships are distinct possibilities during this period. You'll likely experience heightened physical and sexual attractions, drawing you towards passionate romantic interludes or affairs. While these connections can be exhilarating, remember that the 5th house governs unbounded relationships rather than lasting commitments like marriage.

Moreover, this year encourages a spirit of speculation and risk-taking. You may feel emboldened to venture outside your comfort zone, explore novel endeavors, or assert yourself in unfamiliar ways. Failure is a potential risk, but your willingness to bet on your abilities and stretch boundaries will catalyze personal growth and fulfillment through authentic self-expression.

Venus in the eleventh house ( ♀ - XI )

This year, the emphasis is on maintaining good health and establishing efficient work routines. Your body is sending signals that require attention, prompting you to adjust your diet, exercise regimen, and overall lifestyle. Listening to your body's needs is crucial rather than relying solely on external advice or philosophies. Paying close attention to how different foods affect your system will help you make informed choices for optimal well-being. Ignoring these signs could lead to new or persistent health issues, so prioritize self-care to prevent major illnesses.

On the professional front, the focus shifts towards your work's daily details and processes rather than your overall career trajectory. You may find yourself more job-oriented than career-oriented during this period, with a subtle shift in perspective. While major career decisions and opportunities for promotion, recognition, and change may arise when the Sun is in the 10th house, this year's emphasis is on immediate job-related matters and transitioning work situations.

It's an excellent time to reevaluate your work routines and implement changes to enhance efficiency. Even if you enjoy your job, certain aspects may feel tedious or monotonous, prompting you to streamline operations where appropriate. However, be prepared to adapt to changes beyond your control, such as mergers, reorganizations, or shifts in your work environment, position, or job description.

Sometimes, this period may bring negative manifestations like layoffs, forced overtime, or disruptions caused by personal problems, illnesses, or family matters. Work schedules must be adjusted, and flexible hours can accommodate these challenges. Maintaining open lines of communication between your mind and body is crucial during this transformative year.

Saturn in the twelfth house ( ♄ - XII )

This year, relationships take precedence over your individual pursuits. You find yourself more interested in connecting with others, potentially someone in particular, rather than focusing solely on personal goals or working independently. This shift likely follows a period of emphasis on self-sufficiency and independent action over the past two years when your Sun was in the 1st and 10th houses.

Now, you have a strong need for companionship, sharing, and feedback. Prioritize your relationships and spend time with loved ones who may have felt neglected during your previous self-centered phase. Their needs seem more pressing than your own, and it feels natural to support those who have supported you.

Transitioning from a self-centered orientation to a more relationship-focused mindset may not be easy initially. However, your greatest successes will come through collaboration and cooperation with others rather than pursuing endeavors independently. This period encourages partnership commitments, though fulfillment arises from sharing and working together.

Relationship challenges are possible as you navigate this transition. Renewing old connections might be difficult if others have grown accustomed to your absence. An unfulfilling relationship could end, paving the way for a new, rewarding commitment. New relationships are likely personal, but business partnerships may also form. The 7th house governs marriages, partnerships, and close bonds, suggesting you'll become deeply involved in one of these relationship types.

Partnerships can be supportive or restrictive, depending on your responses. This is an excellent time to collaborate on projects and seek objective feedback or expert guidance, as cooperation often yields better results than individual efforts. However, some may find this placement overly consuming, compromising their individuality and needs by prioritizing others excessively. Avoid becoming passive or allowing the relationship to overshadow your personal growth.

Uranus in the first house ( - I )

This is often a year of tremendous change. It is common for individuals with an 8th house Sun to change their lifestyle completely during this year. There is a death of sorts associated with this house, but it is the kind of death that comes from strong transformation and change. Common examples are quitting work and returning to school full-time, leaving home and getting an apartment, transferring to another part of the country, and living in a different climate and neighborhood (e.g., moving from the city to a rural area). The emphasis is on radical change. Usually, there is at least one major change during the year accompanied by many minor changes. Mental stress can result from the number of changes handled within a short period.

An increased perception on both the psychological and intuitive levels is common. During the year, you become more aware of subtle energies. Usually, individuals with this placement begin to feel that they see and know too much. They become overly perceptive of others' true feelings, motives, and psychological inadequacies.

For those who can use this new ability positively, this is a time of tremendous growth and enlightenment. Concurrent with this insight into human behavior is generally an interest in psychological and esoteric topics. Knowledge of this nature will help you to both understand and cope with your perceptions. Your own actions can become immune to manipulative ploys.

For those who do not understand or cannot appreciate their newfound abilities, this is a time of disappointment and helplessness. Unconscious reactions will take the place of rational interchanges as you respond from the gut level without thinking clearly. It is easy for others to push your psychological buttons and manipulate your behavior since stressful situations or relationships have a greater effect on you.

This is more likely to occur if the air element is also lacking in the solar return chart. Examples of compulsive behavior or obsessive/phobic thought patterns will occur regularly. The less aware you are of your own drives, the more easily you will be controlled by them. The awareness of psychological complexes in others should make you more aware of your own psychological idiosyncrasies. Merely reacting to external forces is not as desirable as planning and directing your own life.

Neptune in the twelfth house ( ♆ - XII )

This year indicates the need to reassess beliefs. The 9th house is not limited to higher thoughts only but includes all beliefs, mundane as well as philosophical, nonreligious as well as religious. This is also the house of prejudice, intolerance, and fanaticism. Beliefs that are erroneous, impractical, or unsuitable need to be confronted and eliminated during the year.

Now is the time to reevaluate all beliefs, including those about yourself, your abilities, and your relationships. If you have a long-standing belief in your ability to accomplish something difficult, this is the year to attempt it. As you test your beliefs, one or more of them may prove to be a "misbelief" or misconception. Not all will be accurate or valuable. True beliefs must be proven so they can be built upon; they are the cornerstones of future actions. Misconceptions, on the other hand, can have serious consequences. They distort your perception of reality and stunt your emotional and spiritual growth. They must be corrected so that evolution will resume.

An example of a misconception is a male chauvinist with the solar return Sun in the 9th house square to the Moon in the 7th house. This individual was a career-oriented professional who would stay home and care for the children while he continued to play the field and go out with his buddies. He wanted a stable home environment and someone to come home to, but he did not want the responsibility and restrictions that normally come with marriage and children. His beliefs about relationships hurt his chances for a successful marriage and stressed his relationship with his fiancée.

The spiritual philosophy which is the guiding force behind your everyday actions should be grounded in practical application. You should be able to live comfortably with your beliefs without the pain of continuing disillusionment. Some spiritual philosophies are too idealistic and self-defeating, encouraging the individual to remain in situations that are psychologically unhealthy. Turning the other cheek when you are being abused makes no sense. Your spiritual and religious beliefs should lead you toward fulfillment and peace. Philosophies that do nothing to improve the Universe and lack realistic manifestations may be meaningless mental exercises. A focus on coming to terms with continuing disappointment short-changes the individual. Use this time to find a philosophy that improves your life and the lives of others.

This is also the time to practice what you preach. If you are not aware of the inconsistencies in your beliefs, the contradictions will manifest themselves in your behavior. Others will notice the discrepancy between what you say and what you do. If you are truly hypocritical, you will tend to attract situations that accentuate this conflict even more.

This is a wonderful time for learning. If you have been out of school and wish to continue your education, do so now. Professional refresher courses will help you next year when the Sun moves into the 6th house of work. You can study any topic during the year and courses do not have to be part of a formal education. Concentrated study is likely, and you may do this on your own or within a structured environment. Those who have completed their education may prefer to lecture or teach. As an alternative, you might sell a book proposal with writing and editing taking most of the year.

The Sun in the 9th can also indicate extensive traveling. You are more likely to travel outside the country and overseas, especially if there are other 9th house placements. Experiencing other cultures should make you more tolerant of others and their belief systems.

Pluto in the eleventh house ( ♃ - XI )

This year emphasizes career endeavors and professional growth. It's an opportune time to actively pursue career advancement and work towards greater fulfillment in your field. Major career decisions or recognition for achievements are likely during this period. However, you may also face scrutiny or reprimands for professional misconduct, as your established reputation, whether positive or negative, catches up with you.

If you feel positive about your current job and have been working diligently, push for advancement opportunities. However, if you harbor negative feelings about your job, do not let them hinder your professional goals. It may be better to change jobs or start your own business rather than remain in an unfulfilling situation that drains you physically, mentally, or spiritually. Personal needs may conflict with job requirements, causing tension between work, home, and relationships.

With the Sun in the 10th house, you have significant control over the direction of your professional life and life in general. As the house of destiny, you can make decisions about your future path and life direction. Typically, the focus shifts to a new area of major concern for several years, though changes do not necessarily relate directly to your career.

Authority issues are prominent during this time. If you hold a position of authority, be mindful of your managerial techniques and ability to lead and motivate those under your supervision. If you are not in a leadership role, learn to please and impress those in authority, as they recognize and reward your hard work.

For self-employed individuals, success hinges on your ability to perform well and satisfy the public. How you cope with career tasks will determine your level of success by year's end. Developing effective business techniques through learning and mastering relevant skills will improve your chances.

Your parents or authority figures may influence your decisions, positively or negatively, especially if you still view them as authorities in your field of interest. While you may seek their advice, this is ultimately a time to determine your future and take responsibility for your decisions without being overly swayed by authoritarian influences.

Communication is about to become a major part of your life, in a very noticeable way. Who you are and how you think are one and the same, and will be for the entire year. From business affairs to matters of the heart, you'll know exactly what to say and when to say it.

In fact, others may have a difficult time keeping up with you mentally -- but don't worry, they'll catch up eventually! Focus on being as clear as possible, and remember that there are other ways to communicate besides speaking. Writing a note to a special someone in your life is more than just romantic; it's an unexpected, tangible treat that will prove just how much you care. And you don't even have to 'say' a word! Writing, in general, is a great way to make the most of your year. If you ever wanted to be an author or journalist, this is your year to go for it. Keeping a diary or a scrapbook is another way to channel all your mental energy. You might consider joining a book club, as your critical faculties are highlighted. It's romantic if you're already part of a couple, and great way to meet someone new if you're single. Another great way to meet like-minded people is to take a class -- learn to speak Italian, and you just might find someone to travel with you to Italy!

Sun Conjunction With Saturn

You may begin to feel like the weight of the world is on your shoulders -- and then you'll feel like it keeps getting heavier. New responsibilities will start the year, and are likely to continue piling up on you as the year progresses. There's not much you'll be able to do to ease this, and the best thing you can do is work with it.

No matter what life throws at you, you need to catch it and keep on going. Things will probably be tough in the short term, but in the end, you'll benefit from these lessons. When it comes to your job, though, you can really make this time work to your advantage. The more projects you successfully manage, the better you look to your employer and the higher your likelihood for a raise or promotion -- later. If your current job gets to be too much, you'll have an easier time impressing new potential employers with all of your accomplishments. Romantic relationships will be a bit more challenging, unfortunately. These same responsibilities that can help you get ahead at work could create stress between you and a loved one. You'll be dedicated and faithful, but your energy levels will be low, and worrying about someone else's life in addition to your own will be tiring.

Moon Trine With Saturn

Harmony

6.85

The Moon trines Saturn in your solar return chart, it suggests a year of emotional stability and careful planning. This aspect helps you manage your feelings with a sense of calm and purpose, providing a solid foundation for your actions and decisions. You are likely to take on extra responsibilities with a positive attitude, knowing that your efforts will pay off in the long run.

Your emotions are aligned with your goals, giving you a clear direction. When you seek support from others, they readily offer their help, appreciating your dedication and hard work. If you are involved in an important project, you will be able to maintain your composure and complete tasks efficiently. Your ability to stay focused and organized will be a significant advantage this year.

Others will see you as dependable and strong, often turning to you for advice and stability. You will be a key figure in your family and social circles, providing a sense of security. When making important decisions, you will take the time to consider all options carefully, ensuring that your choices are practical and well thought out.

This period will be beneficial for developing new skills and improving existing ones. You will find that your ability to handle responsibilities and manage your time effectively will grow, leading to significant personal and professional achievements. By focusing on realistic goals and taking steady, measured steps, you will make considerable progress and build a strong foundation for the future.

Moon Square With Neptune

Challenging

When the Moon squares Neptune in your solar return chart, it suggests a year filled with emotional complexity and potential confusion. This aspect can heighten your sensitivity and intuition, but it also brings a risk of misunderstanding and deception, both from others and from within yourself.

During this time, you may find it hard to see things clearly. Your relationships could be clouded by illusions or misunderstandings. You might encounter situations where people might not be entirely honest, or where secrets and undisclosed feelings complicate matters. It's important to seek clarity and try to verify what you feel or suspect before acting.

Emotionally, this aspect can make you feel like you're in limbo, unsure of what is real and what isn't. It can lead to feelings of insecurity and doubt about your perceptions and the intentions of people around you. You might feel more vulnerable to the emotional states of others, absorbing their feelings as if they were your own, which can be overwhelming and confusing.

The challenge here is to maintain boundaries and to distinguish between your own feelings and those imposed by others. Learning to separate reality from fantasy is crucial. You may need to confront uncomfortable truths or deal with unresolved issues that resurface during this period.

This aspect also emphasizes the importance of caring for yourself while being compassionate towards others. It's easy to become overly involved in the problems of others, potentially leading to feelings of martyrdom or self-neglect. Ensure you're not sacrificing your well-being for the sake of helping others who may not want to be helped, or who might take advantage of your kindness.

Overall, Moon square Neptune calls for increased self-awareness and the need to manage your empathy carefully. It's a time to work on strengthening your emotional and psychic boundaries, ensuring you remain grounded in reality while navigating the deeper waters of human emotions and interactions.

Mars Square With Jupiter

Challenging

You better keep your eye focused on the top of anything you're doing this year because it will be far too easy for you to go way over the top if you're not careful. Everything you do will probably be taken to extremes, but most likely this will be at the expense of your intellectual qualities, rather than in favor of them. However, you will like challenges, so if you challenge yourself to direct your creative energies into positive outlets, you could find success this year. Your sex drive will also be over the top, which could be fun, but it may also create some strong feelings of frustration.

Fortunately, this same energy, when applied to work, could produce abundant results. Your love of challenges will be both fulfilled and fulfilling if you manage to continue channeling your excessive energies into productive activities. Beware that you don't let your feelings about your beliefs go to extremes. You could be tempted to pick fights over something (particularly something religious or political) about which you feel strongly. Remain silent. Faith has nothing to do with defense, and you'll be best off if you tolerate other's opinions as well as your own.

Mars Conjunction With Pluto

Dynamic

Your anger could reach new depths in the coming months, and there's a very good chance that it'll be unwarranted. Your job will be keeping the rage that's building up inside of you under control. Difficult as this may be, you'll need to come up with creative and positive outlets for these emotions.

Political activism could be beneficial as long as your activities only involve people who share your views -- your opponent's allies could strike a violent nerve with you if you let them. But any activity that takes your mind off of your anger (or helps you understand it) will be good, and you can be sure that you'll have an incessant drive to keep going until you've achieved the ultimate goal. Solitary activities and projects might also be a smart route to take. There will be a power struggle in every one of your relationships, and probably in just about every interaction you have. This year will be hard on your significant other as you fly from jealous rages to attempts at domination. If you're single, you might want to consider staying that way for a while. It just won't be an easy year for romance. Again, your best bet will be to simply find some sort of project that you can focus on, and finish it. A sense of accomplishment will help tremendously.

Sometimes it's hard to keep up with the speed of life; and sometimes it's hard for the speed of life to keep up with you. For the next year, you're going to be bouncing back and forth between trying to catch up with your own mind and waiting impatiently for everyone else to catch up. It could be a frustrating year with lots of changes in plans, and you'll need to remember to be as open and flexible as possible. This will be a wild year as the rebel deep within your mind will crave action.

That little demon will push you toward the outer limits of respectability and you'll challenge society's norms with your crazy notions. However, you'll have a hard time letting any of your thoughts focus onto anything beyond mere speculation, and accomplishing something concrete may require abilities that will be beyond your capacity. You'll have a lot of nervous energy keeping you up at night, and this will continue until you can learn to separate your intuition from your logical mind. Although logic will seem crucial to you, you won't really get anywhere until you can accept that sometimes you need to listen to your instincts -- even when they counter every rational thought in your body.

Basically, your whole life is about personal growth. It's about taking what you've learned and expanding on that to make things better for the future. If ever there was a time for you to dive right in and get started on the plan to improve yourself and your future, this year is it.

Theoretically, you should try identify every growth opportunity that comes before you, but in reality, every single experience is just that opportunity. Use this knowledge and it will help you bring a positive influence to any and all aspects of your life. It will be up to you to motivate yourself to open the doors that will bring you a better future, and fortunately, you'll have the skills to do just that. You'll have a grasp of the details you'll need to work through in order turn your dreams into reality. Your strong understanding of your place in society will be a major component in just how far you can go -- which will be quite far, if you put your mind to it. You will have the creative ability to imagine the best life possible, and you will be able to accept the responsibility of seeing that come to life. Ultimately, your power to see everything to completion will be your greatest strength and ally.

One of the most amazing aspects of science fiction is that a certain portion of it somehow ends up being true years and years later. That's how your mind will be working in the coming months -- it'll just be so far out there that your ideas will seem like fiction, but wait a few years and suddenly everyone will realize just how right you were. Your mind will be working in hyperdrive, and it might be a good idea for you to write everything down so everyone else will have an easier time catching up later. Spend as much of your time traveling as possible, as new locations and cultures will enhance your imagination and bring even crazier ideas to the forefront.

Living for the present may be difficult this year, so go ahead and let your mind wander into uncharted territory. Take advantage of your incredible technical savvy at work and wow your superiors with your brilliant solutions to age-old problems. Meanwhile, if you're looking for love, try to find someone who can share your vision of the future. Or, if you're already part of a happy couple, you should talk everything through with your partner so they'll understand what's going on in that head of yours.

Venus Conjunction With Pluto

Power and sex. The two frequently go hand-in-hand, but this year, you may have a hard time differentiating between them. There will be a sexual energy radiating out of you that others will have an extremely hard time ignoring.

Your sensuality will practically ooze out of every pore, and you'll turn heads everywhere you go. Relationships will be exciting, with you holding the reigns, but you'll have to watch out for jealousy and other power-plays that could leave your partner feeling used. There will be a dark side to your personality, and if you're not careful, you may leave a trail of shocked people in your wake. You might want to think about what you're about to say before you say it, and keep an eye of the faces of those you're talking to -- if their expressions start to change for the worse, it's time to quiet down and let someone else take over the conversation. If you can take some of this darker sexual energy and put it towards some other area of your life, like your career, you could see amazing results. It will be all about finding an appropriate outlet for your passion and drive.

The cycle of life says that something must die in order for more life to go on. This could be something traumatic like a mother dying in childbirth, but that's extremely rare compared to all the other little things that occur by the millions every day. A piece of rotten fruit in a field provides nutrients to animals passing by or the soil below it.

A caterpillar turns into a butterfly. Even you getting rid of old clothes to make room for new ones falls under this category. Change and transformation are simply processes of life, and ones that we deal with every day. This year, however, you'll be more sensitive to the transformations that occur, and they'll become a part of who you are. It will likely be a very spiritual time for you, as you will begin to question all that goes on around you. Just what is the reason for our cyclical behavior? How can one concept apply to every aspect of life (e.g. for every action there is an opposite and equal reaction)? These questions and many others will plague you as you make a transition from simply accepting the world around you, to really seeing its complexities and wondering if a powerful being is in charge, or if everything just fell into place somehow, like a well-oiled machine.
